Imagination. Creativity. Joy. These will be the values that guide Bellwether's youngest campers as they participate in this teacher-led week of community building and social development through art & play. Toddlers will enjoy themselves as they share time with friends and family discovering music, art, books and out-of doors in a creative and nurturing playschool environment. Parents will appreciate the opportunity to observe the curious nature of their children as they interact with the environment and with their friends, and they will gain support and knowledge of age-appropriate and engaging activities to inspire their child's love of learning.
